

These are used to collect the stones present in urine.